(cv. IPB065013)

This colorful chameleon comes to us from the Ilsink family in the Netherlands. Petals unfurl to reveal a greenish cream color with a finely etched edge of deep pink. The ruffled open flower can vary from a pastel apricot to soft yellow set against glossy green leaves. Sometimes it blushes even more pink. Its florist rose bloodlines translate to super long-lived blossoms in the vase or in the garden.

Interplant Roses

Innovation is at the heart of Interplant Rose's business. The company produces over 100,000 crosses a year at its headquarters in the Netherlands to create exciting new rose varieties. The initial testing of new varieties takes place at its greenhouses in Holland using sophisticated computer software to assist in the hybridization of new roses. However, the most important element Interplant Roses adds to its research and development efforts is its knowledge and skills obtained over decades of breeding.

KORDES® ROSES

The W. Kordes' Sohne breeding program is one of the largest in the world. Before introducing a new rose, Kordes carefully evaluates it for such qualities as color, size, form, vase life, productivity, disease resistance, and fragrance.
